

TAMARA ATTIC - WHAT IS WHAT?

In our attic-room at Tamara, we offer procedures for getting published, ideas on calls for papers, and explain Tamara the Play, and Tamara the Journal. We store a lot of junk in the attic. But some of it is useful in figuring out how to publish in Tamara.

We have a ghost in our attic who comes to us in dreams saying, "There can be a Critical and Postmodern Organization Science, one based in narrative and qualitative study; One that combines critical theory as well as postmodern theory with praxis. And one that seeks a higher ethics of global production and consumption." We think its the real Tamara, but we are not sure.

TAMARA Journal of Critical Postmodern Organization Science encourages:

Storytelling

Politics

Social Ethics and

Organization Narrative Research

Qualitative Research

Postmodern Theory

Critical Theory

Spectacles of Production & Consumption

Critiques of Corporate Predation

TAMARA is a Print and Electronic Journal.

TAMARA is freely available only in HTML format on the web.

TAMARA is sponsored by the International Academy of Business (www.iabd.org) and by subscriptions of individuals and institutions. Please haunt us with your subscription.